

It is a wise son who selects his parents that they will die rich and leave behind a goodly name and heritage for him to squander and bask in. To indulge in riotous living being both detrimental to himself and his associates.

It takes mother-love to bring up a child, and all will readily agree that the miracle of mother-love is a constant wonder. Without it, how would the perverse little tyrant survive the buffetings of the world? To give! The child runs to mother with a mashed finger and mother's kiss is the needed balm—at 7, 17 and 50, it's the same. It is love that makes existence possible, and the strongest love known to human family is mother's love. God bless the mothers.

It sometimes seems as though the saying that "it is easier for a poor man to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to be condemned" might be true; yet inevitably crops out the meanness done as at Opera House this week, on the reel of the artist, so it is in everyday life, and fails not. "You reap what you sow." There may be a "hereafter" in fact, two of them, but it's our experience on this terrestrial sphere that one gets his in this life and does not have to wait very long for it. We do not say he does not after his exit from mother earth, but if so many of us will get a double dose, and most of us need it.

the ladder, so it is in building human character. Begin at the bottom and climb slowly but steadily, that the ascent being gradual may be natural, hence, more lasting. Be a man of character, energetic and willing, have the ability and let the world know it, and you will always find a place for yourself higher up on the ladder. It is at the bottom on the ladder where the multitudes crowd, waiting for something to turn up. The man worth while has already left the bottom rung of the ladder, and has turned something up above the multitude, while they clamor under the debris of falling obstacles, and wonder why.

FALL TELLS MR. TAFT HE MADE A MISTAKE

Says the New York Journal in a dispatch from Washington:

Taft's rather foolish orders in connection with the Mexican situation have done a great deal of harm. There is in mines, smelters, mills, railroads and in other avenues of trade over $2,000,000 of American gold in Mexico. Those Taft orders, for the most part, have put them out of commission—laid things American in Mexico on their beam's end.

Taft is beginning to find this out, Catron and Fall, the two senators from New Mexico, were at the white house.

"What do you think," asked Taft of Catron, "of my recommendation to the Americans to get out of Mexico?"

Catron, as sly and wise as a pit fox, only grinned.

"Senator Fall here, is our Mexican expert," said Catron, jerking his thumb at the eminent mine owner and ranchman.

Taft turned to Fall.

"What do you think of my warning urged Mr. Taft?"

"To be frank, Mr. President," said Fall, "I regard it as a most ill-considered move. Why did you tell the Americans to get out of Mexico?"

"I was afraid they were in danger," returned Mr. Taft.

Some things ought to be understood about Mexico. Those whom the pro-dispatches call "bandits" are not bandits by either choice or profession. They are, 99 out of 100, people out of work who must either loot or starve.

Taft's order keeping dynamite and powder out of Mexico has thrown 20,000 Mexican men out of work in Chihuahua alone, where the American mines and smelters are. What are they to do? Lie down and die? Not they, while there is a steer to rope and slaughter or a mill or store to plunder.

FIRE CAUSES BIG PROPERTY LOSS IN LAS VEGAS

Blaze Which Starts in Mackel's Opera House on Plaza Wipes Out Several Buildings

Las Vegas, N. M., June 10.—Property to the value of $50,000 was destroyed this morning in a blaze that wiped out the structure known as Mackel's Opera House, the store of the Danziger brothers, all located on Pacific street at the west end of the plaza. For a time indications were that the entire block of buildings on the south side of the Plaza would be destroyed, but efficient work on the part of the firemen and the fact that the west wall of the Danziger building stood firm even after the structure had been taken in the history of greater Las Vegas.
